South Carolina Genealogies

By A. S. Salley, Jr.

For eight or ten years before his election to the State office of secretary of the historical commission of South Carolina, the writer was professionally engaged in historical and genealogical research work in Charleston. During those years he accumulated a large store of geneological and biographical notes concerning many families prominent in the history of South Carolina. These notes were gathered from the public offices in Charleston, from church records, graveyards, family papers and Bibles, newspapers and books. The public records of the State of South Carolina concern the acts and doings of the legislative and executive branches of the government rather than the acts of individuals, so that there is very little family history to be gleaned from the records in the office of the historical commission. The management of The State, recognizing the demand for material of this sort, has made arrangement with the writer to publish these notes from time to time in The State. All of the material gathered on each family presented will be published and letters requesting material not published will be useless. The writer is publishing records and not opinions, but will gladly publish additions furnished from authentic records.

THE DESCENDANTS OF PAUL PRITCHARD OF CHARLESTON AND HOBCAW.

From this family many noted people descend, including that knightly South Carolinian, Gen. Wade Hampton. The earliest mention of the family in South Carolina is when Paul Pritchard advertises in The South Carolina Gazette for June 2, 1766, that he has taken into custody a cypress canoe which two negroes had offered for sale. In January, 1767, we find by a record of a bill of sale in the probate court in Charleston, that he and Edward Dempsey sold the schooner Mary Ann to Richard Wade and Henry Lybert, and in February, 1770, he sold a negro boy to Henry Samways of James Island. From the next mentions of him we learn that he was a shipbuilder. The South Carolina Gazette for November 22, 1773, says:

"A Scooner Passage Boat, of the Burthen of between 3 and 400 Barrels of Rice, for Capt. John Turner, to be constantly employed between this Province and Georgia, is contracted for, to be immediately built, by Mr. Paul Pritchard, of such a construction, as to render it one of the most complete for the Purpose in America."

The South Carolina and American General Gazette for November 11, 1774, announced:

"On Monday last was launched here a fine large Schooner, built by Mr. Pritchard for William Williamson, Esq., and named the Charleston & Savannah Packet, designed to be employed in the Trade between this Province and Georgia, particularly calculated for Passengers, and is to be furnished with excellent Accommodations."

The next two records we find connect Paul Pritchard with the famous shipyard on Hobcaw Creek, which was long his home and place of business and where much shipbuilding and repair work was done for the navy of South Carolina during the Revolution.

On June 20, 1778, William Begbie and Daniel Manson, of Hobcaw, shipwrights, conveyed 340 acres of land at Hobcaw to Abraham Livingston and Paul Pritchard, shipwrights, for 50,000 pounds currency of the State. On the 2nd of October, 1778, Pritchard and his wife, Ann, conveyed one-fourth of this tract to Edward Blake, Roger Smith, Josiah Smith, Jr., Thomas Corbett, George Abbott Hall, George Smith, John Edwards and Edward Darrell, commissioners of the navy board.

MRS. PRITCHARD.

There is at hand no record to show the maiden name of Paul Pritchard's wife Ann. By his will, made February 1, 1777, and proved October 22, 1783, William Gibson gave her a negro "fellow" Isaac, a negro "wench," Juna, household furniture, a horse, saddle and bridle, and to William Pritchard, son of Paul, £500 currency of South Carolina. The balance of his estate he directed to be sold and the proceeds sent to his nearest heirs in Belfast, Ireland. He named his friends Valentine Lynn and Paul Pritchard as executors. (Probate court records, Charleston, A. 220).

In the meantime, in December, 1780, Gibson conveyed to Mrs. Ann Pritchard, in consideration of his "love, Goodwill and affection" for her, two hundred acres of land in St. Bartholomew's Parish.

Mrs. Pritchard died October 8, 1788, and Paul Pritchard followed December 3, 1791.

The City Gazette or The Daily Advertiser for October 9, 1788, contains the following notice:

"Died.] Mrs. Pritchard, wife of Mr. Paul Pritchard, of Hobcaw."

The same paper for Tuesday, December 6, 1791, contains the following:

"DIED.] On Saturday night last, Mr. Paul Pritchard, of this city."

They are buried side by side in their family burying ground on the beautiful old plantation on Wando River, Christ Church Parish, Charleston County. A high brick wall with a large, handsome wrought-iron gate surrounds the graveyard. One large marble slab marks their graves and contains the following inscription:

In Memory
of Paul Prichard
who departed this life the 5th of December, 1791.
and Ann his wife who departed this life the 8th of October, 1788
This tribute of respect is done by their two sons
William and Paul

PAUL PRITCHARD'S WILL.

The will of Paul Pritchard, which was made November 19, 1791, and proved December 14, 1791, gave his son William Pritchard the plantation at Hobcaw, with the wharf, buildings and other appurtenances thereto belonging, the furniture, stock and plantation tools thereon, all the materials at the shipyard for carrying on the business, all the timber and plank on the shipyard and the vessels on the stocks, and the use of his negroes until his son Paul should become of age, when they were to be divided equally between them; gave his son-in-law Christopher FitzSimons a right and privilege of landing and shipping his goods, wares and merchandise at his wharf in Charleston free of charge; gave his daughter Aphra Ann Eve for life the use of a lot of land on the east side of the Bay in Charleston, adjoining that conveyed by testator to his son-in-law Christopher FitzSimons, to go to her heirs at her death, also a right to use the wharf as provided in FitzSimons's case; gave his son William a lot on the Bay, adjoining that given to Mrs. Eve and the wharfage privileges given to FitzSimons and Mrs. Eve; gave son Paul Pritchard the wharf and all the remainder of his lands in Charleston, but providing that in case he should die without issue it should be distributed equally among the other three children; gave the canoe and boats belonging to the shipyard at Hobcaw to his son William; directed his executors to make a title to his son-in-law Oswald Eve of a tract of land on Lynch's Creek; gave his son William all the iron bolts, rods and nails purchased for the use of the shipyard, he to furnish, at his own expense, for his brother Paul on his coming of age, a set of careening blocks, falls, flats and other impliments for carrying on the ship carpenter business, equal to at least one-half of what might be left at the shipyard at the time of testator's death; gave nephew Paul Pritchard, son of George Pritchard, £50 sterling and a negro then in George Pritchard's possession; gave nephew William Pritchard £50 sterling and a negro boy; gave brother William Pritchard £50 sterling, gave sister Catharine Rea £50 sterling; his "Brother George Pritchard," Henry Smith, David Hamilton and Robert Connor a like sum each; desired that the partnership concerns of Pritchard, Hamilton & Company be settled as soon as possible by Brian Cape and George Fardo or any arbitrators who might be agreed upon, or by an umpire in case they could not agree; directed that in case the accounts between Oswald Eve and himself could not be amicably settled that the executors submit the settlement to the Court of Equity as speedily as possible after testator's decease, the balance, if any should be due testator, to be given to Mrs. Eve; gave remainder of his estate to his two daughters; appointed his sons William and Paul and friend Thomas Winstanly executors. Witnesses: Brian Cape, Edward Legge and Jeremiah Brower. (Probate Court, Charleston, B. 613-615.)

DAUGHTERS MARRY.

The following marriage notices show the dates of marriage of the two daughters:

"Married.] Capt. Oswald Eve, to Miss Nancy Pritchard, daughter of Mr. Paul Pritchard."—The South Carolina Weekly Gazette, July 5, 1783.

"Married.] Sunday evening, Mr. Christopher Fitzsimons, of this city, to Miss Catharine Pritchard, daughter of Mr. Paul Pritchard, of Christ Church parish."—The Columbian Herald, or the Independent Courier of North America, Thursday, August 7, 1788. A similar notice appears in The State Gazette of South Carolina of the same date.

Catherine (Pritchard) FitzSimons was was born in Charleston August 19, 1772; and died in Columbia December 14, 1841.

From Mr. and Mrs. Eve there are many descendants in this and other States. Among these is Mrs. James Kernochan of New York's Four Hundred, known far and wide as an accomplished rider.

Mr. and Mrs. FitzSimons also have many descendants. One of their children married Col. Wade Hampton, subsequently one of the largest and most progressive planters in the South. On the 28th of March, 1818, their son Wade was born in the old Amory-Rhett house in Hasell Street, (now known as No. 54), Charleston.

THE ELDER SON.

William Pritchard, the elder son of Paul, succeeded to the shipbuilding business at Hobcaw upon the death of his father. He married, December 2, 1801, Eliza Latham. The following notice of his marriage appears in South Carolina State Gazette and Timothy's Daily Advertiser of Saturday, December 5, 1801:

"Married, on Wednesday evening last, by the rev. Dr. Parker, in St. Thomas's Parish, William Pritchard, sen. Esq. to the agreeable and accomplished Miss Eliza Latham, daughter of Daniel Latham, Esq. of this city." A similar notice appears in The Times of the same date.

The children of William and Eliza (Latham) Pritchard were:

Paul Pritchard, who died in February, 1816.
Kervin Pritchard,
Lushington Pritchard,
Cashal F. Pritchard,
Constantia Pritchard, who married Heyward; died March 25, 1859.
Charity Wilson Pritchard.
William Richard Pritchard, born December 23, 1818; died in Savannah July 27, 1890. He has descendants in Savannah.
Paul Pritchard, born April 12, 1820; died at Pritchardville, S. C., April 11, 1906. He was a physician.

THE YOUNGER SON.

Paul Pritchard, second son of Paul, engaged in the shipbuilding business upon his property in Charleston upon attaining his majority, as shown by the following notice which he placed in the City Gazette & Daily Advertiser in October, 1795.

"The subscriber respectfully informs his friends and the public in general, that he has this day commenced business for himself on his own wharf, in the

SHIP CARPENTER LINE.

In all its branches; those who favor him with employment may depend on their work being faithfully executed and with the greatest expedition, having a parcel of excellent hands regularly bred to the business, and all work on the most reasonable terms.

Orders left at the scale-house will be duly attended to.

Paul Pritchard.

October 1."

The next important reference to Paul Pritchard is the following notice, which appears in The City Gazette and Daily Advertiser for March 14, 1797:

"Married, on Sunday last, by the Rev. Mr. Frost, Mr. Paul Pritchard, to the amiable Miss Mary Geyer, both of this city."

He died June 1, 1814, as shown by the following notice in The City Gazette and Commercial Daily Advertiser of June 25, 1814:

"Departed this life, on the 1st ult. Paul Pritchard, senr. Esq. of Daniel's Island."

HIS WILL.

The will of Paul Pritchard, Sr., of Daniel's Island, St. Thomas and St. Denis's Parish, Charleston District, shipwright, made April 7, 1814, and proved July 15, 1814, gave his wife, Lydia, Fairbank plantation, situated on Daniell's Island, Wando river, containing 378 acres and the buildings thereon and five ship carpenters, a ship joiner, a blacksmith and his wife and two children, and 12 other negroes, directed that his other negroes be sold to pay his debts, the balance to go to the benefit of said wife Lydia; gave wife all of his household furniture and sterling plate and all other property; directed that 12 of his large vessels and all unfinished vessels on the stocks and those that may be finished and afloat be sold or so much thereof be sold as would satisfy all demands against him; gave his wife his white bottomed canoe, his mahogany skiff and hay boat; directed that his ship carpenter's tools, blocks, carpenter's tools, blocks, pitchpots, screws, saws and augurs be sold; directed that his plantation, Paris, on Daniell's Island be sold to pay his debts, the residue to go to his wife; directed that his carriage and horses be sold and the money used to purchase a neat horse and chair for his wife; directed that his silver mounted gun and brace of pistols and his tract of land called Bensford's Hall in St. Thomas and St. Denis's Parish be sold to pay his debts, the residue to go to his wife; gave wife all stock—horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry and so forth; gave wife his house and lot in Radcliffeboro, the some being subject to ground rent; appointed his friends Sanders Glover, Sr., Sanders Glover, Jr., and John Vinyard, executors. Witnesses: F. Coram, Henry Clifford and Thomas E. Ross. (Probate Court, Charleston, E, 416).

The descendants of George Pritchard, brother of the first Paul, will be discussed in a future paper.

Melons Moving.

Special to The State.

Allendale, July 2.—Seasons for the past week have not been as favorable for the farmers in this vicinity as heretofore; a little too much rain has fallen. Some of the cotton has been damaged but not seriously. The melon crop is beginning to move, one or two cars of melons and cantaloupes having been shipped from this point. Melon planters are well pleased with present outlook for yield and prices.

CURES ECZEMA QUICKLY

New Discovery Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Skin Diseases.

Nothing in the history of medicine has ever approached the success of the marvelous skin remedy known as poslam, which it is safe to say, has cured more cases of eczema and skin diseases than any remedy ever offered for these ills.

The success of poslam is not at all surprising when it is considered that even a very small quantity applied to the skin stops itching immediately and cures chronic cases in two weeks. The very worst cases of eczema, as well as acne, herpes, tetter, piles, salt rheum, rash, crusted humors, scaly scalp and every form of itch, yield to it readily. Blemishes such as pimples, red noses, muddy and inflamed skin disappear almost immediately when poslam is applied, the complexion being cleared over-night.

Every druggist keeps both the 50-cent size (for minor troubles) and the $2 jar, and either of these may be obtained in Columbia at W. C. Fisher & Co.'s, as well as other reliable drug stores.

But no one is even asked to purchase poslam without first obtaining an experimental package which will be sent by mail, free of charge, upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.
